Accident.

A young man named George Shields, while trying to force a cartridge into a Ballard rifle, met with an accident. The cartridge exploded and blew off a portion of the left hand. This occurred on Monday, at a place about eight miles from Coalville. The young man rode all night and reached here this morning, when Dr. Benedict amputated what was necessary and dressed up the wound.

CITY COUNCIL.

Proceedings at the City Council, on Tuesday evening, September 26th, 1882, Alderman Dinwoody presiding:

Alex Cohn and five others, residents of Pine & adjacent streets, petitioned that a four inch water main be extended along said street one and a half blocks from South Temple and agreed to advance the amounts set opposite their several names, amounting in all to $300 which petitioners believe to be three-fourths the cost of making said extension.

On motion, the petition was received and the prayer thereof granted on condition that petitioners advance three-fourths the cost of the work, whether it be $500 or more, said work to be done under the direction of the superintendent of water works.

A petition from Mrs. U. Schuester was presented, complaining that the city had cut its canal through her lot, First Ward cutting off the northeast corner thereof and throwing up an embankment which makes the lot inaccessible by team. Petitioner asked that the city buy her lot, which was valueless to her as it existed, and renewed the offer to sell, made in a previous petition, for $400. Referred to the committee on claims.

L. Martin petitioned to be granted the right of way through Chestnut street, between Garden and Bluff streets, for a water pipe, to be laid from the Twentieth Ward ditch to his residence. Referred to the committee on streets and alleys, with the watermaster associated.

A petition from W. N. Cook was submitted praying that he be given a title to a certain strip of land near the military reservation of Fort Douglas, which he had improved by expending several hundred dollars upon, and upon which he had erected a dwelling for himself and family. Referred to the committee on public grounds.

Applications for renewals of license as retail liquor dealers were submitted from G. S. Erb at the Continental Hotel, Stewart & Chil-lett, at their drug store on East Temple street, and Youngberg & Pedersen at their saloon on Commercial street. Granted.

Application for renewal of license to manufacture malt liquors at their brewery, Nineteenth Ward, was presented from the estate of R. B.
Margetts.

The committee on improvements, to whom was referred the petition of Henry Wood, superintendent of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railway Company, for street lamps on Second South to the station of said company, reported that the distance would be five blocks, and recommended that the superintendent of gas works be instructed to put four lamps to each block along Second South street from the corner of West Temple to Fifth West street. Action on this report was, on motion, deferred for one week.

The committee on waterworks,
to whom was referred the petition of John S. Johnson and four others, asking that the water mains be extended 422 feet eastward on Second South street from the spill located at the corner of Sixth East and Second South streets, recommended that the petition be granted, provided the parties interested first pay into the city treasury three-fourths the cost of the same, to be returned in water rates after the usual manner.

A report from the city attorney giving a detailed account of the business of the corporation in his hands for the quarter ending August 31st, which showed a total of seven cases, to which the city was a party in interest, was received and filed.

It was decided, on motion, to be the sense of the Council that the gas company be required to extend its mains northward according to the terms of its franchise, and especially along North Temple or aqueduct street, and that the city put in lamp service as far as practicable, considering its present financial condition and the wants and rights of residents of that portion of the city.

Mr. Chas. H. Crow was appointed alderman of the Fifth Municipal Ward to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Alexander C. Pyper.
The subject of the conditions and restrictions pertaining to the grant of a water power to Francis Armstrong for his mill and the blacksmith shop adjacent thereto, at the mouth of City Creek Canyon, was referred to the committee on waterworks.

Adjourned for one week.

Comets.

The comet recently discovered and about which so much has lately been said in the press dispatches, may now be seen by those who want to crawl out of bed about 5 o'clock in the morning. At that time the comet is then above the eastern horizon, a little to the south of the point where the light of dawn is strongest, flashing upward toward the zenith like a brilliant band. It may be seen plainly after the sun has risen above the eastern hills.

Professor E. E. Barnard, of Nashville, Tenn., on the 14th inst., discovered a new comet located near the star Lambda, in the constellation of the Twins. His discovery was announced by telegram to Mr.
H. H. Warner, at the Warner Observatory, Rochester, N. Y., and almost at the same moment Prof.
Lewis Swift, director of the Warner Observatory, received intelligence that a large naked eye comet had been discovered in Rio Janeiro, South America. Prof. Barnard is the first person the present year, to receive the Warner prize of $200.
The fact that these two comets came into view at the same time is considered significant.

Territorial Championship.

Arrangements are being made to have the Ogden Athletic Base Ball Club visit Salt Lake during Conference week and complete the series of games with the Olympic nine for the championship. Owing to the first game terminating at the fifth inning it has been decided to declare it void, and the score, therefore, now stands one game each out of a series of five games necessary to determine the championship.
Each nine think themselves capable of winning the next two games, and in all probability the victory will be decided without playing the fifth game.

The Salt Lake Athletic Association is about to fit up grounds on the east side of Washington Square for the coming contest, and it is pretty certain that seats will be erected.

September Term.

On Thursday morning the Third District Court will meet at the Court Room, and the September term commence. The term should be an active one, as it is a long season since there have been any jury trials, or trials of any kind for that matter. The grand jury will not have an unusual amount of business to attend to—that is of the ordinary kind—as there have been comparatively few crimes; there are, however, quite a number of important cases pending which should, and probably will be disposed of.

KELTON ROAD CROSSING,
September 18th, 1882.

Editors Herald:

One of those charming (?) little episodes so frequently, yet sometimes so erroneously, attributed to far western life and character, occurred here on the 15th inst. A half-drunken man named John Green, but commonly answering to the euphonious sobriquet of "Big Jack," while displaying his familiarity with the customs of cowboys, by slinging around a loaded pistol in a promiscuous crowd of men, was about as successful as the most exacting C. B. could wish for; the "gun" went off, the bullet from which penetrated the bowels of an innocent spectator, just a little to the right of the navel, passing downward and lodging in the spine. Dr.
Wood, from the junction, was immediately called, but the character of the wound rendered his services unnecessary; the man, known hereabouts as "Red," but whose real name was Hugh McFeely, died about eight hours afterward in great agony, scoring one more victim to the reckless handling of fire arms by irresponsible persons. No arrest.

This part of the world does not abound, particularly in interesting topics for the average reader of the HERALD. There is little doing besides railroading. The Oregon Short Line Company, is pushing its road as rapidly as possible to completion; the whole route is dotted with camp "outfits" and alive with men and teams, plodding along, plowing, scraping and digging in the stubborn rock and cement with the laudable double purpose of earning "grub" and a "stake," and realizing the hopes of their ambitious but uneasy employers. The latter, contractors and "subs," are, I will mention parenthetically, like others of their kind in all parts of the world—they possess their full share of human characteristics, and when they have nothing else to do, "put in" time speculating on the probable success or failure of their neighbors; circulate rumors conceived in falsehood and born in envy. Hence the damaging reports that reach home sometimes and cause friends to become anxious and creditors uneasy. As a rule, most of the contractors and subcontractors are shrewd, calculating men, and conduct their work on strict business principles. The men are well paid, well fed, well housed in tents and, with few exceptions, are worked only ten hours a day, and above all, are located healthfully. When the writer of this article left Ogden, the air was rife with rumors of small-pox on the Oregon Short Line; he has visited nearly every camp between this (the seventy-third mile) and American Falls, and not a single case of the disease has come under his observation. The further you go from Ogden, the less is heard of small-pox.

Among the many contractors engaged in work on this stupendous undertaking, may be mentioned the pushing, active, enterprising firm of Robinson & Paul, well known in your city as men of experience and ability. They are rapidly attaining to the end of their present contract and confidently and reasonably expect to finish by November 1st a stubborn piece of work. Their energy, perseverance and industry deserve the success they merit, and which your correspondent feels must inevitably crown their efforts. They have a good set of working men, and are ably seconded by their active young foreman, Mr. J. S. Robinson, a son of the senior partner. (Excuse me for two minutes; the rockmen are about to put in a blast, and they are no respecters of persons or position).
That blast was no blast; it was a fizzle—an abortive attempt by frail man to subdue old Bill nature, so I may close this letter by beseeching the Salt Lakeers to take good care of Brother Paul, who left camp several days since, rather "under the weather" from what was feared here would be a serious complaint, but who, we learn by letter, is now happily convalescent. Treat him well—not too well, but just well enough. More anon.

In a Quandary.

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 26, 1882.

Editors Herald:

I want a little advice; I am in a quandary. If a man having divine right, derived from the Declaration of Independence, and from the Constitution of the United States, to be born equal, and to the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, with the freedom of speech, comes to me and says: "You have eyes but you see not, ears but you hear not, a heart but you understand not. You live in a Territory over which the United States have exclusive jurisdiction. Sit you down on a legged stool in the dark; don't you leave; don't you show yourself, nor move, nor mutter, nor peep." What ought I to do? Step out, and let him step in, or sit myself down and become a statue? If I am in the dark room on the legged stool, will he step in?

Tom Fitch.

Tom Fitch is trying to gobble the Grand Central mine, and has found the legal net, with which he proposes to perform that feat in one of the cells of the Territorial prison.
Tom is a versatile genius in his way, and has mingled during his skyrocket career, in company of all grades and fashions, but that he would finally hob-nob with a con-cict, has, probably, never entered the imagination of even the most sanguine of his friends. This last act caps the climax of our curiosity about him, and we are curious no longer. There nothing he may try to do, that will hereafter strike us as extraordinary in its nature, or at all sensational. The Grand Central is safe enough, and, of course, Tom's suit is but in the nature of a quack advertisement, but that is nothing.
The Arabian Night idea, and the illuminated cheek of the proposition, are what fills the mind of an ordinary being with a sense of littleness and awe. We had formed an opinion that the St. Jacob's Oil fellow could get up sensational advertisements, but he can no more be compared to Tom Fitch than a Mexican clown can to Dan Rice.—Tom-

D. & R. G.

On the 18th inst., General Palmer President of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company, telegraphed to New York, from a point in Colorado, as follows:

Just arrived at end of track Utah extension 370 miles from Denver, ninety-two from the Utah boundary. We had three miles to-day and seventeen in last week. There is nothing apparently to prevent reaching Utah boundary in December, and making connections eighty-five miles west thereof, at Green river, in February. We came through the famous Black Canyon of the Gunnison, altogether the grandest as well as the most picturesque gorge traversed by any railroad in the United States. The traffic of this line cannot fail to be satisfactory. I left Leadville yesterday. It is pretty certainly producing 1,200 tons of ore per day. The bullion yield this year is larger than last. Smelting furnaces overworked.
